

Whitley-Stanley.

Central Methodist Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Wednesday night, when Miss Lilla Whitley, daughter of Mrs. Lella L. Whitley of Fifth avenue, was united in marriage with Mr. LeRoy Stanley, of C. E. Wright, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was a popular teacher in the public schools, was honored by the members of her bridal party and other friends. The bridegroom, formerly of Mount Vernon, Ill., has lived in Fort Worth about three years.

A color motif of pink and blue was developed in the decoration of the church and in the gowns of the girls of the bridal party. The rail about the rostrum was banked with potted ferns and at intervals tall sprays of pink gladiolus filled vases placed among the greenery. Palm trees, situated at either side. The chair railing, which was banked with ferns and gladiolus, the effect being a circle of pink and green as a background for the bride's picture.

Miss Aleta Hightower played the piano solo, Godard's "Beloved It is Mine," sung by Miss Lillian Ely. Miss Hightower played "Lohengrin" wedding march for the processional. Mendelssohn's march was the recessional. The maids and ushers entered at opposite sides and passed to the rear where they stood during the ceremony, the maids one step above the ushers.

Miss Mildred King of Dallas and Mr. Jack Marsh came first, then Miss Helen Plumbhoff and Mr. David Miller, the couples who followed were Miss Genevieve Green and Mr. Edgar Blount and Miss Winnie Shepherd and Mr. Earl Aldridge.

The maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Moore, entered unattended.

The little ring bearer, Master Kent Jones, carried the ring on a satin pillow. The bride, who passed to the place of ceremony alone, was preceded by the two little flower girls, Frances McKain and Lella Cooper.

The bride wore a handsome creation of white crepe meteor, trimmed with Chantilly lace. The court train was of duress satin. Her veil, which fell from a cap of tulle wreathed with orange blossoms, fell to the end of her train. The bride's bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley, shepher effect.

Miss King was attired in a gown of silk lace, and jeweled trimming.

Miss Greene wore a pink crepe meteor gown with overdress of imported lace; Miss Plumbhoff, pink silk costume, and fountains of silk net edged with rickshaws of pink; Miss Shepherd, blue silk gown with touches of pink and white; Miss King, a pink and white flowered silk.

They wore bridesmaids' veils to match their gowns, arranged cap fashion and wreathed with tiny pink roses, and carried arm bouquets of pink carnations and ferns.

The maid of honor, Miss Moore, wore a pink brocaded satin gown with overdress of silk net and the carried pink and white carnations.

Miss Lilla Whitley, who scattered rose petals from tiny baskets, wore dainty white frocks of pink and blue ribbon.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Hayden Brewster.

After the ceremony, the bridal party was entertained at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley will be on their honeymoon trip to the coast. They will be at home after July 13, at 611 West Second street.

Miss Stanley wore a blue silk gabarine traveling suit.

Crady-Davis.

The wedding of Miss Pearl Marshall Crady and Mr. W. L. Davis of Ardmore, Okla., was celebrated Wednesday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Crady, on Aton street.

Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church officiated. An elaborate decoration of the rooms made an attractive setting for the wedding.

The service was read in the living room, an embankment of ferns and palms forming a background in front of the mantel, where many clusters of pink gladiolus, carried in the hands of the bridesmaids, and festoons of plumeous fern were hung upon the chandeliers and over the mantels and the remaining rooms were banked with ferns, dotted with pink roses.

Decorations and ferns ornamented the library. The dining room presented a charming appearance. Here the new couple will drink pink and white ribbons. The pink and white wedding cake, upon bore the initials "C-D," done in rosebud, centered the table.

"O Promise Me" was sung by Mr. J. Fred Schofield, accompanied at the piano by Miss Margarette Fisher, who also played the "Lohengrin" march as the processional. The bridal party descended the vine wreathed stairway. Miss Ethel Thomas of Cleburne leading the way. She wore a Gradus gown of pink crepe de chine trimmed with jeweled bands. A silver tulle butterfly bow was worn in her hair, from which foil streamers attached to the wrist. Miss Lila Dale Wooten of Abilene wore an Empire gown of pink crepe de chine with bodice of lace trimmed with pearls. She wore a hair ornament similar to Miss Thomas. Both maids carried arm's bouquets of pink carnations.

The maid of honor, Miss Ruby Marie Crady, a sister of the bride, wore a costume of pink crepe de chine, accordion pleated with lace bodice. She wore a pink tulle bow in her hair, with streamers to the wrist. She carried pink carnations.

Mildred Elizabeth Frazier, the little ring bearer, preceded the maid of honor.

Her crown was of white lace over pink silk and she carried the ring in a pink rose. The flower girl, little Miss Elizabeth Aldridge, wore a white and shadow lace frock over pink scattered rose petals from an ornamented basket.

The bride was attended by her father. She wore a beautiful Empire gown of silk lace, with court train of chiffon laffeta. The trimmings were fringed ruffles of taffeta.

The bridegroom entered with his best man, Mr. Roy Stewart. During the ceremony Miss Fisher played strains from Dvorak's "Humoresque."

A reception followed the ceremony. The following out-of-town guests were present: Messrs. and Misses, J. A. Thomas of Cleburne, J. L. Crady and family of Dallas, A. J. Davis, parents of the groom, of Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis will spend their honeymoon in Galveston. They will make their home in Ardmore. The bride wore a traveling suit of peacock blue, with accessories to correspond.
