In response to the call of the chairman, Mrs. Len O Smith, the committee to solicit loans for the exhibition to be held for the benefit of the Carnegie library book fund met in the trustees' room of the library Friday morning at 10 o'clock. It was decided to commence an active canvass for loans at once. To facilitate the work, the town was divided into sections and a chairman appointed for each section. The chairmen were requested to appoint their committees. The committees were instructed to secure the loan of pictures of genuine artistic merit, ethnological curios, manuscripts, letters and other objects of historic interest. Mrs. Ben O. Smith, chairman of the general committee, urges people having objects of interest not to wait to be solicited for them, but to kindly notify her. Only pictures and objects of artistic or historic value are desired, works of amateurs will not be received.
